

```
uninja
  3,2,1,0,97,6
                                               let arr = [3,2,1,0,9,7,6]
                                               let n = arr.length
i_{z0} left z = 3

i_{z0} right 2

2, 3, 1, 0, 9, 7, 6
                                           for(let i =0;i<arr.length;i++){
                                                   for(let j=0;j<n-1;j++){</pre> let left = arr[j]
                                                        let right = arr[j+1]
                                                        if(left>right){
                                                            swap(arr,j,j+1)
                                                        }
              Left = 3
right = 1
  5 = 1
                                                   }
                                               }
                                               console.log(arr)
               2,1,3,0,9,7,6
                                              ▶ function swap(arr,x,y){
```